Held to Grand Jury.

Davis Washington, colored, on a charge of shooting at another with intent to kill without wounding, was arranged in the county court yesterday morning and waiving examination was held to the grand jury under a bond of $300. Washington has been a fugitive for more than a year. In a difficulty in the negro suburb of Ruckerville, he is alleged to have fired several shots at Jesse Keith, another negro. He was arrested Sunday by Constable McKenney.

Frank Taylor Held to Grand Jury.

The examining trial of Frank Taylor, charged with killing John Delaney last Tuesday, was held in Winchester Friday afternoon before Judge Evans and in default of $1,500 bail Taylor was sent to jail to await the action of the Clark County Grand Jury.

Both men were from this county and were members of a logging camp owned by Alvin Hicks, near Winchester. The men were riding the horses attached to a wagon and no one else was present.

After the killing Taylor is said to have told several conflicting stories. First he said that Delaney had killed himself; next that Hicks had shot Delaney and finally that he had shot him in self defense.

In his testimony Friday he said that both men were drinking; that Delaney borrowed his pistol and threatened to shoot him with it and that in the scuffle which followed it was discharged, killing Delaney instantly.

Negro Cutting Affray in Clayville.

In a difficulty which took place in the negro suburb of Clayville Saturday night, Pres Lannum, was seriously and probably fatally cut by Jim Sharp. Both are negroes.

The difficulty took place at a resort in Clayville and it is alleged Lannum was the aggressor. He was slashed about the head and body and was wounded in about a dozen places.

After the cutting Sharp made his escape and has not been apprehended. Both of the negroes were bad characters, and have participated in several cutting affrays. Sharp had only recently been released from jail where he was being held on a charge of cutting with intent to kill.

Lannum, about a year ago, was severely wounded in a fight in Clayville, when he provoked a quarrel with two negroes, one of whom attacked him with a hatchet and the other stabbed him several times with a knife. He is under indictment in the Bourbon Circuit Court for cutting Ed Herrin in a difficulty which took place about two months ago.

Body of Brent Marshall Found.

With every bone crushed and a steel girder weighing many tons lying across the remains, the body of Brent Marshall, vice president of the Early & Daniel Co. was found Monday morning in the ruins of the Chamber of Commerce building, at Cincinnati.

Workers had been working all night in the hope of finding some trace of the missing men. As the dawn was breaking one of the diggers gave a shout. In an instant every man was ordered into the ruins. The man had found a piece of cloth and tried to pull it out. In doing so he uncovered the body of Brent Marshall. In a few seconds the remains were uncovered.

Flames had obliterated the features, but a bank book in the pocket of the coat showed that it was the body of Marshall.

The suspense of his relatives in Covington anxiously waiting at the home gave way to the keenest anguish when they were informed that his body had been recovered from the ruins.

Miss Elizabeth Marshall, his sister, with whom he had lived since the death of their mother was one of the first to learn of the recovery of the body.

Other relatives, including her brothers and Mrs. Frank Woodall, of Covington, an aunt, remained with her during the long wait of nearly six days.

Arrangements were made to remove the body to the Marshall home in Covington as soon as it had been viewed by the coroner.

Attorney Ulie J. Howard in preparing a public statement in behalf of the family.

He is survived by three brothers—Symmes, Charlton and Walter Marshall and one sister, Miss Elizabeth Marshall.

The funeral will be held at the Marshall home tonight and the body will be brought to Paris Wednesday morning arriving here on the 10:15 L. & N. train, when it will be taken to the Paris cemetery where it will be interred in the family lot.

VOTE AGAINST CUT-OUT

Bourbon Growers Met—Saturday Afternoon and Declare Against the Movement.

MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Majority of the Tobacco Growing Counties Are In Favor of the Cut Out Pledge.

The tobacco growers of Bourbon county in convention Saturday afternoon voted to grow tobacco this year. The convention was largely attended, more interest being manifested in the meeting than at any time during the struggle of the growers in the combat against the trust.

Fully two hundred and fifty growers assembled at the court house Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and at 1:30 the convention was called to order by Mr. Kenney Nichols, a prominent tobacco grower of Hutchins, who had been designated as temporary chairman.

After reading the call issued from the headquarters of the Burley Tobacco Union at Lexington, Mr. Nichols addressed the assembled growers briefly, setting forth the object of the meeting. He declared he was willing to abide by the decision of the majority of the growers present, but as he had attended the meeting held in Lexington on January 5, at which thirty-one out of thirty-four tobacco growing counties had endorsed the cut-out movement, and while it was immaterial to his interests which course was pursued, he deemed it wise to follow with the majority.

Mr. Nichols also stated that the majority of the growers of this county who opposed the cut-out pledge were those who had disposed of their tobacco, and those who favored the movement were the growers who had a great amount of tobacco on their hands. He said this year should be the cleaning up year. With a crop this year, he declared, the price of tobacco would suffer a decline, resulting in the farmers being unable to obtain a better price than seven cents for their product.

The convention then proceeded to organize and nominations for a permanent chairman were heard. Warren Rogers, of Flat Rock, a bitter opponent to the cut-out pledge, was nominated as was John T. Collins, former secretary of the Burley Tobacco Society and H. S. Caywood, of North Middletown. The latter two withdrew when the vote was being taken and a motion to make Mr. Rogers' nomination unanimous met with but little opposition. The organization was completed by the selection of T. Hart Talbott as Secretary.

After the election of a chairman and secretary, Mr. D. C. Lisle offered a resolution to be presented before the convention condemning the cut-out movement as outlined by the Burley Tobacco Union. The resolution is as follows:

"Resolved, By the tobacco growers of Bourbon county that we earnestly condemn the movement to cut out the 1911 tobacco crop. This movement, if consummated would force the breaking of many contracts already made; would be a great wrong and hardship to the tenants and their employees; would completely break up and demoralize their business arrangements for the year, and would compel many of them to leave the State.

"It would also infringe upon the rights of the land-holders by attempting to control what they shall do in the management of their own private property.—We therefore hereby declare our right and determination to exercise our own judgment at the same time freely granting the same rights to others to absolutely control the matter as to whether we shall individually raise a crop in 1911.

"Any other course is entirely destructive to our liberties under the law, and to the necessary protection of our personal and property rights."

Chairman Rogers called for a vote on the resolution before the convention. The aye and nay vote was taken. The chairman declaring the resolution had carried and the convention adjourned amid a storm of protests from the advocates of the cut-out movement whose contention was that the vote was so close a count should have been taken.

That the majority of the farmers throughout the Burley growing district are strongly in favor of the no crop movement in 1911 was clearly shown by the meetings held Saturday afternoon by the Burley growers.

Seventeen out of twenty-five counties reporting Saturday night favored resolutions for the cut-out plan recently adopted at the meeting of the Burley Tobacco Union held in Lexington.

In a few counties there were only a small number of growers in attendance and these favored the cutting out of the 1911 crop and the pooling of the crop in 1912.

Only five counties turned down the proposition and in three no action was taken. The growers all over the district are enthusiastic over the prospects for no crop this year and at many of the meetings Saturday afternoon a large acreage was immediately signed for the 1911 cut out.

The following is the results of the meetings in the counties in which they were held:

Bath county—Big meeting and 145 growers pledged 922 acres to the cut out and county is expected to be unanimous.

Boone county—Everybody at the meeting signed the pledges to cut out and sentiment is strong.

Bourbon county—Split on the vote, with those voting to grow a crop in 1911 in the majority.

Boyle county—Rejected the cut out and favor a pool.

Carter county—Voted unanimously for a cut out.

Clark county—Growers were unable to reach an agreement and took no vote.

Fayette county—Voted for the cut out.

Fleming county—Voted for the cut out three to one.

Franklin county—Voted for the cut out.

BRASS BEDS—IRON BEDS—WOODEN BEDS

All in a row at our store waiting for you to make your choice.

BRASS BEDS look very much the same when they are new. In a few months most of them are black-streaked and horrid. You can count on one hand the brass bed manufacturers who know how to lacquer brass so that it will stay bright. We buy from one of them.

We think we have an exceptionally pretty assortment of designs. Come and see what you think.

IRON BEDS plain white—brass trimmed—pink or blue enamel—we can sell you any kind, and you will agree, when you see them, that each is an exceptional value.

WOODEN BEDS in good grades are coming back in style. They are made better now. The new ones are really as clean and sanitary as brass or iron, and they often look prettier, as you will find when you see ours.

Whatever kind of bed you buy, you surely must have a STEARNS & FOSTER MATTRESS if you would be really comfortable. Made in four grades of superiority (you can prove it by 60 nights' trial), $10.50—$22.50.

See My Window--Take advantage now of these prices--Brass Beds from $12 50 up.
